

Please stop trying to stifle the successes of satellite XM radio. It is an infringement of First Amendment rights to forbid XM radio from broadcasting whatever it feels, especially when it is not harming anyone. I personally benefit from the weather updates and if the other companies and stations feel threatened, they should try to improve instead of taking a successful company down. I refuse to go back to regular radio now because XM radio is a wonderful service that frees me from listening to stupid commercials and is a service that I pay for and have the right to decide what I should hear on it. Because I do pay for this service, the NAB has no place determining what should and should not be broadcast.
